

Red Riding Hood

Here is a little girl.
She likes wearing a red cloak
with a red hood.
That's why people call her
"Red Riding Hood."

Today, Red Riding Hood's mother receives a letter from Granny.

"Granny is sick," she says.

"Go visit her home
and give her some cake."

"Yes, Mother,"
says Red Riding Hood.

Red Riding Hood walks
through a forest.

She sees her friends playing hide-and-seek.

"Come and play with us,"
says a boy.

"I can't. I have to see my granny,"
she says.

Red Riding Hood goes on.
She sees some pretty flowers.
“I can pick some for Granny,”
she thinks.

A hungry wolf comes and asks,
“What’s your name?”

“I am Red Riding Hood,”
she answers.

“Come and play with me,”
says the wolf.

“I can’t. I have to see my granny,”
says Red Riding Hood.

The wolf asks,
“Where does she live?”
“Not too far. It’s over there,”
answers Red Riding Hood.
The wolf thinks,
“I can eat Red Riding Hood
and her granny.”
The wolf runs very fast to Granny’s house.

The wolf knocks on the door.

"Who is it?" asks Granny.

"It's me, Red Riding Hood!"

the wolf answers.

Granny says,

"I am coming, my dear!"

She sees a wolf's paw.

"It's the wolf!" she screams.

She climbs into the cupboard.

The wolf opens the door

but can't find her.

The wolf puts on Granny's pajamas and sleeping cap.

Then he jumps into her bed.

Red Riding Hood knocks
on the door.

"Granny! It's me, Red Riding Hood,"
she says.

"Come in, my dear,"
says the wolf.

Red Riding Hood opens the door and comes in.

“Granny looks very strange today,”
she thinks.

“Oh, Granny,” she says.

“You have very big eyes!”

“Yes,” says the wolf.

“They are better to see you with!”

Red Riding Hood walks a little closer.

"How strange!" she says.

"You have very big ears!"

"Yes," says the wolf.

"They are better to hear you with!"

Red Riding Hood walks closer again.

"How strange!" she says.

"You have very big teeth!"

"Yes," shouts the wolf.

"They are better to eat you with!"

The wolf jumps out of the bed.

"Help! Help!"

Red Riding Hood screams.

She runs out of the house
and into the forest.

“Rumble, rumble, one and two.
My tummy is waiting just for you,”
the wolf sings.

Red Riding Hood runs and cries.

"Climb up the tree, little girl!"

shouts a monkey.

He pulls her up the tree.

"I'll get you," shouts the wolf.

Red Riding Hood doesn't go home.
Her father goes to look for her.
"Daddy! Daddy! I am up here," shouts Red Riding Hood.
"I am coming, my dear,"
says her father.
He ties up the wolf
and helps her down.

“Where is Granny?” he asks.

“I don’t know,”

says Red Riding Hood.

They run quickly to Granny’s house.

They can't find Granny.
"Granny! Granny!" they shout.
"I am in the cupboard," says Granny.
Daddy helps Granny out of the cupboard.
They are very happy.

"I have some cake and flowers for you, Granny,"
says Red Riding Hood.

"Thank you, my dear," says Granny.

"Let's have cake and tea."

“Thank you so much for helping us,” says Red Riding Hood to the monkey.
Granny gives him a little red cap.

The monkey likes the red cap
very much.

“Your name is Little Red Cap,”
says Red Riding Hood.

“I like my new name,”
says the monkey.

And they become best friends.

Word List

bed

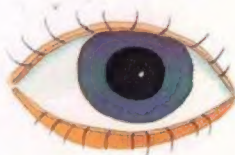

ear

cake

cupboard

eye

cap

door

flower

answer, ask, best, better, big, climb, closer, come in, daddy, dear, down, eat,
far, find, friend, get, granny, have, hear,

forest

paw

teeth

monkey

red

tree

pajamas

sleeping cap

wolf

help, house, into, jump, knock, letter, like, little, name, open, out, run, see,
shout, sick, strange, think, up, visit, walk